THE WEEK OF:

August 31st-

September 4th

This Week in Third Grade...

Math: Students will complete a math pre-test and begin to understand equal groups as multiplication.

Reading: Students will take a series of comprehension pre-assessments and engage in a variety of close-reading activities with the text "My Librarian is a Camel." Their grade reading and listening skills will be discussed.

Writing: Students will complete their handwriting pre-assessment. In addition students will complete a "summer snapshot" writing activity as well as a 'Meet the Author' writing activity throughout this week. The stages of writing will be reviewed.

Third Grade Power Team

Ms. Amoscato's News

Welcome to Third Grade!

I am very excited to meet all of my new third graders this week! We do have a busy week planned with new lessons and pre-assessments. In addition, we will spend the first three days becoming familiar with classroom organization, home work logs, behavior charts and morning meeting routines. Third grade is an exciting academic year but also an important year for maturity, growth and responsibility.

Every Friday, a newsletter will be written for the upcoming week and sent through Power School. You may also access the class newsletter by going to my website: ms.amoscato.com At the top of the page, you will click on the 'Newsletters' tab. Below will be a copy of the most recent class newsletter.
